The Story of Ton Mai

By Hervé, Founder

More than ten years ago (since 2015), I was sitting in a small restaurant just in the front of the Spa when I noticed a man posting an advertisement — the land was for sale. I called the owner right away.

He was a banker from Bangkok and told me he was about to sell the land to a developer who planned to build a condominium. But then he said something that stayed with me forever:

*"I feel sad... this Tamarind Tree is more than 150 years old.
For Buddhists, cutting it would bring bad karma."*

I looked at the Tree — tall, peaceful, timeless — and felt the same sadness. I told him,

"I don't want to destroy it. I want to build something that respects it — a place of calm and renewal."

I explained my idea: a spa where guests could truly slow down, take a deep breath, and reconnect with themselves. A place not just for a massage — but for a few hours of peace: sauna, steam, ice bath, pool, herbal tea... a space where relaxation lasts long after you leave. The owner smiled and said,

*"I don't care about money —
I just want someone to take care of my Tree."*

That's how Ton Mai Spa was born — named after the Thai word for "old tree," in honor of the ancient tamarind that still stands at the heart of this place. Every day, when you walk through our garden or sit under the shade of that Tree, you're part of this story — a story of respect, nature, and the simple art of feeling well.
